This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Preface.

THE four years which have elapsed since the publication of the first volume of the Bibliotheca Cornubiensis have been spent by its authors in passing through the press the pages of its successor. Mindful of the favourable reception accorded to the first volume of their work, the Authors have adhered almost without variation to the principles which guided them in its compilation. They have ventured however to incorporate in this volume a large quantity of biographical information concerning the eminent Cornishmen mentioned in its pages. They found that the enquiries which they prosecuted without cessation in every part of the county of Cornwall for information as to the lives and publications of local authors, placed them in possession of many facts which would undoubtedly have been forgotten in a few years. It was their first intention to have postponed the publication of this additional information, but they gradually arrived at the conclusion, that to print it in the present work would ensure its safe preservation for future generations, and make their labours not less acceptable to the generality of their readers.

The biographical details and lists of works now presented to public criticism, have been corrected, in the case of living writers, by the authors themselves; when through death or absence from England the benefit of this personal supervision could not be obtained, the lists have been submitted to the correction of their friends and relations. If this circumstance has in some degree delayed the appearance of this work it has unquestionably increased the accuracy of its statements. All the biographical incidents of importance mentioned in the numerous histories of Cornwall have been embodied in these pages, and great assistance has been obtained from the family papers which have been submitted to the inspection of the authors, as well as from the parish registers which the clergymen of the county have generously permitted them to consult. The reader will easily recognise the valuable information which has been derived from the matriculation registers of the University of Oxford concerning the Cornish students educated at that university. For the possession of these valuable data, the importance of which it would be difficult to overestimate, the authors gratefully acknowledge that they are indebted to the courtesy of Col. Chester, LL.D. At the sister university the greater part of the Cornish undergraduates entered their names on the books of Pembroke College; the facts contained in these entries have been kindly supplied by the present Master of that college.

The list* of some of the eminent Cornishmen comprised in this volume will be found to illustrate every epoch of English history, and every branch of English thought. A comparison of their names with those printed in the preface to the preceding volume will shew that there is no diminution of interest in these pages. Although it is unnecessary to indicate in detail the excellencies of these distinguished Cornishmen, it may be well to point out that to the enquirer into the connection with England of the early settlers in America, two names, Hugh Peters and Samuel Penhallow, are of especial value. The last labour of the literary life of Isaac D'Israeli—a labour which has unfortunately not yet been published—was an attempt to vindicate the character of Hugh Peters from the aspersions cast upon his fame by the pamphleteers of the Restoration. In the absence of any adequate attempt to do justice to the memory of this remarkable man the authors have endeavoured, and they hope not without success, to collect the chief references to his busy life which can be found in the literature of England and America. The biographical incidents in his varied career are followed by precise references to ninety-four separate works describing his thoughts and his acts while the bibliography of his writings in print and manuscript fills fourteen columns of this volume. The memoir of Samuel Penhallow (a member of a family entered in the Herald's Visitation of 1620, and, like the unfortunate Hugh Peters, related to the most distinguished families of Cornwall), is worthy of notice as describing a Cornish emigrant who rose to the highest post afforded by the profession of the law in New England, and published one of the scarcest books printed in America. In this volume will also be found the bibliography of a few eminent authors whose connection with Cornwall was due to residence rather than to birth. The name of Robert Paltock, still only nominis umbra, was disclosed in 1835 as the author of a romantic narrative, often reprinted in the last century for the charm which it threw round the adventures of a pseudo-native of Cornwall. To the seclusion of a Cornish vicarage on the river Fal the Rev. W. J. Temple retired from intimacy with Johnson and Boswell, and from another remote parsonage on the same river John Whitaker issued those antiquarian and biographical volumes which provoked the censure or admiration of the book-lovers of his time. With the city of Truro the fame of the unwearied evangelist, Samuel Walker, is inseparably associated. If Cornwall recognizes with legitimate pride that the list of her illustrious sons includes the name of Dr. S. P. Tregelles, she also claims to have nurtured for many years the labours in biblical criticism of the Rev. F. H. A. Scrivener. To the writings of these distinguished residents in Cornwall the authors have devoted especial attention; they add with pleasure that the list of Whitaker's publications was submitted to the critical examination of Mr. James Crossley, F.S.A. and Mr. J. E. Bailey, F.S.A., of Manchester.

Whilst the authors have been engaged in the protracted task of superintending the printing of these pages, they have been deprived of the assistance of many gentlemen who aided them in the compilation of the first volume, and encouraged them with their approbation. They cannot refrain from placing on record the irreparable loss which they sustained by the deaths of Mr. Charles Chorley, Mr. W. J. Henwood, F.R.S., and Mr. William Sandys, F.S.A. The rest of the friends and correspondents particularized in the preface to the first volume have continued to respond to the demands which must often have trespassed in no inconsiderable degree on their valuable time; and as the publication of the first volume proved that the authors were sparing neither time nor money for the attainment of their desire to do justice to all sections of literary life in Cornwall, it raised up for them willing workers in nearly every district of the county. To specify the whole of their coadjutors would be impossible, but they must not omit to acknowledge the ready assistance which they have ever obtained from the local knowledge of Rev. W. Iago, of Bodmin, Mr. M. P. Moyle, and Mr. James G. Cunnack, of Helston, Mr. Stephen Clogg, of East Looe, Mr. Edward Heard, of Truro, Mr. P. A. Renfree, of Redruth, and Mr. Thomas Kinsman, of St. Austell. To the clergy of the county the authors beg to renew their thanks for the biographical information which they have supplied from the pages of their parish registers. The works now described have for the most part been consulted in the library of the British Museum, but the treasures of the Bodleian and Dr. Williams' Library have not unfrequently remedied the deficiencies which can still be discovered in that unrivalled collection. In connection with this branch of their enquiries the authors must not fail to make grateful mention of the aid which they have received from Mr. W. H. Allnutt, of the Bodleian and Mr. Frederic Boase, of the Incorporated Law Society Library.

The preparation of the third and concluding volume of the Bibliotheca Cornubiensis has far advanced, and will be continued with as much speed as is consistent with a due regard to accuracy. It will contain an alphabetical arrangement of miscellaneous matter which could not be classified under the names of the authors, a list of local acts of parliament and civil war pamphlets relating to the county, a supplement showing the works of recent date and the particulars which have been brought to light since the commencement of the printing of the previous volumes, and lastly, a complete index to the contents of the entire work.

The authors would venture, in conclusion, to express their hope that any readers discovering errors or omissions in these pages will kindly communicate with them.

The life and adventures of Peter Wilkins, a Cornish Man; relating particularly, his shipwreck near the South Pole, his wonderful passage thro' a subterraneous cavern into a kind of new world, his there meeting with a gawry or flying woman, whose life he preserv'd and afterwards married her, his extraordinary conveyance to the country of glums and gawrys, or men and women that fly. Likewise a description of this strange country, with the laws, customs and manners of its inhabitants, and the author's remarkable transactions among them. Taken from his own mouth, in his passage to England from off Cape Horn in America in the ship Hector. With an introduction giving an account of the surprizing manner of his coming on board that vessel and his death on his landing at Plymouth in the year 1739. Illustrated with several cuts, clearly and distinctly representing the structure and mechanism of the wings of the glums and gawrys, and the manner in which they use them either to swim or to fly. By R. S., a passenger in the Hector. Lond. printed for J. Robinson at the Golden Lion in Ludgate-street and R. Dodsley at Tully's Head in Pall Mall 1751, 2 vols. 12°. 6/-.

NOTE.—We have ascertained that no person of the name of R. Paltock was admitted a member of Clement's Inn, he may, however, have practised there as a Solicitor without having been a member, or he may been simply a resident in the Inn. The first ed. of this work is said in Watt to be dated 1750, but we have not seen any copy of this date. In that of 1751 the dedication to The Right Honourable Elizabeth, Countess of Northumberland, is signed R. P. as is also the Introduction, pp. iii-xiii, and although it has been suggested that the letters R. S. on the title are a telonism of Peter Wilkins, it seems more probable to suppose that they are simply a misprint for R. P. In the copy dated 1751 in the Br. Museum the Dedication is bound up in the second volume. The authorship of this work was unknown until the year 1835, when in cataloguing a number of books and manuscripts which formerly belonged to Dodsley the publisher, Mr. Nicol, the printer, discovered the original agreement for the sale of the manuscript from "Robert Paltock, of Clement's Inn" to Jacob Robinson and Dodsley. The price given for the entire copyright was £21, twelve copies of the work and "cuts of the first impression" [i.e. a set of proofs of the engravings in the first edition]. The assignment in 1854 was penes Mr. James Crossley of Manchester.

NOTE.—The Petition presented to the House of Commons by Thomas Slingsby Duncombe, M.P. for Finsbury 2 May 1842, for the National Convention and signed by 3,315,752 persons was written by R. K. Philp. This the most numerously signed document on record was borne into the House on the shoulders of sixteen stone masons, workmen at that time employed in building the Houses of Parliament. The concluding prayer of the petition was, that as there were no working class representatives in the House, the memorialists might be heard at the Bar, in support of the prayer of the petition. But, by a vote of 287 against 49 the House on the 3 May refused to allow the Petitioners advocates to be heard. R. K. Philp was one of the three persons nominated to represent the working classes on this occasion, had the prayer been granted. *cf. T. C. Hansard's Parl. PRIDEAUX, Rev. Humphrey. (Con.).

An award of king Charles the first, under his broad-seal, settling two shillings of the pound, out of the rents of the houses in Norwich, for the maintenance of the parochial clergy of that city, in lieu of personal tithes. With A Treatise vindicating the legality and justice of that award, and showing that personal tithes in lieu of which the said payment of two shillings of the pound was awarded, are still due by the law of the land, although they have been unjustly substracted ever since the Statute of the 2d and 3d of King Edward the Sixth, which took away the oath whereby they are to be proved, and that there is a necessity of again restoring them or settling something in lieu of them, for the maintenance of ministers in the cities and large towns of the realm. By H. Prideaux, D.D.... Lond. printed for Robert Clavel, at the Peacock in St. Paul's church-yard 1707, 4°. Title 1 leaf, The award pp. 1–8, A vindication, pp. 9–66.

Note.—cf. MSS. Camb. Univ. Lib. Mm. vi, 57, fol. 77-84.

The plan of a work entitled Mineralogia Cornubiensis et Leges Stannariæ... by W. Pryce of Redruth, Cornwall. Falmouth, printed for the author and sold by the booksellers in town and country. n.d. [1773 or 1774] 8°. pp. 40. Bodl. Lib. Gough's Collection.

NOTE.—The proposal speaks of the intended publication in 1778 and was written after the death of Dr. Borlase the antiquary. In it Dr. Pryce mentions that about 22 years previously he first attended the business proceedings at Dolcoath Mine and that for 17 years he had seldom failed of his attendance. Amongst the persons who assisted him in his undertaking are mentioned Mr. John Edwards of Hayle Copper Works, rev. Mr. Pickering of Redruth, Francis Bennallack, Dr. Borlase, the historian and Dr. Borlase the vice warden, (his kinsmen) and Philip Webber of Falmouth, the latter of whom is spoken of as "father and protector of my orphan state during a long minority." Amongst the persons by whom subscriptions would be received is R. Pryce of Shrewsbury.

Note.—This work commences "Secundum Hugonem de S. Victore."

Pits followed by Parkinson makes Richard Rufus a different person from Richard of Cornwall, alleging that he was b. at Cirencester and died circa 1270, but Leland is perhaps right in identifying them, as in Monumenta Franciscana, p. 550, Ricardus Rufus Cornubiensis is expressly named and the same acts and writings are attributed to both. It appears that he could not speak English well, as he mostly spoke Cornish.

NOTE.—At the Helston election 30 Apl. 1866, the two candidates, Will. Baliol Brett Q.C. (now one of the Judges of the Court of Common Pleas,) and Robert Campbell each polled 153 votes, whereupon the Returning Officer and Mayor of Helston Mr. Thomas Rogers, although he had already voted, gave a casting vote in favour of the second candidate and declared him to be duly elected. The matter being brought before a committee of the house of commons on the 5 July, it decided 1. That the rev. Isaac Rogers, Wesleyan Minister who had voted for Mr. Campbell, was not entitled to a vote and that therefore there was a majority in favour of Mr. Brett. 2. That a returning officer cannot give a casting vote. This case was frequently referred to in The Elections Returning Officers Bill which was brought into parliament in the same session. *cf. T. C. RUDDELL, REV. JOHN. (Con.).

Mr. [Duncan] Campbell's Pacquet for the entertainement of gentlemen and ladies. Containing I. Verses to Mr. Campbell...II. The Parallel, a poem...III. An account of a most surprising apparition, sent from Launceston in Cornwall. Attested by the Rev. Mr. Ruddle, Minister there. Lond. printed for T. Bickerton at the Crown in Paternoster Row [18 June] 1720, 8°.

NOTE.—The third part, a fiction written by Daniel Defoe, headed "Remarkable passage of an apparition 1665," occupies pp. 20-33. It was inserted by C. S. Gilbert in his Survey of Cornwall (1817) i, 115-19 as an original and inedited document by Mr. Ruddell. On this "Remarkable passage of an apparition 1665," as found in Gilbert's work, Mrs. Bray founded a considerable part of her romance "Trelawney of Trelawne." cf. Will. Lee's Daniel Defoe, his life (1869) i, pp. xliv, 322-27; N. and Q. 3 S. x, 417-18 (1866); Rev. J. M. Neale's The unseen world (1858) pp. 112-16; Rev. R. S. Hawker's "Footprints of former men in far Cornwall," (1870) pp. 103-24 under the title of "The Botathen ghost;" Rev. F. G. Lee's Glimpses of the supernatural (1875) pp. 59-69. It appears that the term "the fanatical minister of Launceston" applied to Mr. Ruddell in some printed works is entirely unmerited.

An attempt towards recovering an account of the numbers and sufferings of the clergy...By John Walker, M.A...Lond. 1714, fol.

Note.—Berkhampstead common in the counties of Hertford, Buckingham and Northampton formerly belonged to the duchy of Cornwall but was purchased by earl Brownlow in 1862. In Feb. 1866 the earl enclosed about 400 acres with an iron fence which Augustus Smith acting as a freeholder and copyhold tenant of the manor and accompanied by a gang of navvies forcibly tore down and removed. The earl commenced an action against A. Smith, but dying soon after, the action could not be proceeded with. In July 1866 the latter filed a bill against the then earl Brownlow, the case was heard in the Rolls Court 15, 18 Nov. 1869 and 14 Jan. 1870 when A. Smith got an injunction preventing any future enclosure of the common. cf. The Law Times Reports xxi, 739-42 (1870); The Law Times xlviii, 229-30, 263-64 (1870); Punch l, 125 (1866).

The case of Vice against Thomas...By Edward Smirke 1843 q.v. ante ii, 658.

NOTE.—W. M. Thomas holding certain tin bounds, W. Vice and J. Bennetts entered on and took possession of the same; being summoned before the vice warden they filed a demurrer, but the demurrer was overruled with costs and the defendants were ordered to file their answer to the petition. From this judgment they appealed and the case was argued before his royal highness the lord warden who had called to his assistance lord Lyndhurst, lord Brougham, lord Langdale, vice chancellor Wigram, and baron Parke, when after long arguments, the order was reversed without costs.

NOTE.—The Epistle dedicatory to the Parochial history of Cornwall signed "Thomas Tonkin, Pol Gorran July 9, 1733" and addressed to "sir Will. Carew and sir John St. Aubin" is prefixed to the above work pp. xxxi-xxxix. See also Bonaparte, Prince L.L. ante i, 31.

The parochial history of Cornwall founded on the MSS. histories of Hals and Tonkin 1837–38. See Gilbert, Davies ante i, 174.

An alphabetical account of all the parishes in Cornwall, the 1st volume A–J brought down to the year 1702 by William Halse of Fenton Gymps, gent. with large additions and amendments to the whole and brought down to 1736 by Thos. Tonkin of Trevennance. The 2nd volume K–Z [but in fact only completed to Otterham] completed wholly and brought down to the sd. year 1736 by the sd. Thomas Tonkin. MSS. 2 vols. sm. 4°. on vellum.

NOTE.—The above volumes were purchased by the late Mr. William Sandys from Thomas Kerslake, bookseller, Bristol in Apl. 1856, after Mr. Sandys' decease in 1874 they passed into the possession of the present owner W. C. Borlase esq. of Castlehorneck. The first vol. contains pp. 612, the second pp. 414 but several of these are blank. There is a letter at the commencement called an Advertisement much shorter than and different from that given in De Dunstanville's Carew, complaining of Hals' ignorance and of his ill-conduct, it then goes on to say "I shall only add that whatever is enclosed in these lines [ ] are my notes or additions or amendments as may be easily seen and that all which follows at the end of his accts. of every parish, under the long lines thus —— are my own observations wholly by way of addition to his. I am going on as fast as my leisure will permit with the 2nd volume from K to Z and whatever faults are in that must be laid to my score only. Let me but add two or three words more, that as I design this but as a common place book in order to a more correct survey of Cornwall, whatever the fate of these papers may be, they are by no means fit to be published as they are. Tho. Tonkin, Trevaunance anno domini 1715." These books seem to be the MS. or Common place books above referred to. The first volume comprises the copy of the collections of Hals probably up to 1702 when the intercourse between Tonkin and Hals seems to have ceased and the bracketed portions and additions referred to by Tonkin appear to a considerable extent. Hals added considerably to his collections after 1702 which accounts for this MS. not containing many things that afterwards appeared in Hals. The second volume comprises Tonkin's MS. only according to the title of the MS. and stops at Otterham.

The portion of Tonkin's MS. history now in the Library of the R.I.C. at Truro (cf. Journ. R.I.C. Apl. 1874, pp. xxv-xxvi,) after passing through various hands was given by the rev. F. W. Pye, R. of Blisland to that Institution. It is a continuation of the MSS. possessed by Mr. Borlase and consists of four parts stitched together containing an account of the parishes from Padstow to Zennar, the parishes are numbered 146 to 203 and the pagination extends from 406 to 610 but in the beginning of the first part there are two or three leaves not paged. This MS. was at one time lent to the rev. John Whitaker, who supposing that the loan was a gift, made some memoranda on the MS., which he however "took care to erase" before he returned it. The cancelled parts have however been printed by Davies Gilbert. Two small portions appear nevertheless to have been retained by Whitaker namely one portion of 8 pages relating to St. Piran in the Sands paged 460a, 460b, 460c, 460d. The second portion consists of 4 pages on foolscap octavo relating to St. Ewe and the inscriptions on the grave stones there &c., this not being uniform with the original, possibly did not belong to it. The two small portions spoken of are now (Jan. 1877) penes Sir John Maclean at Bicknor Court, Coleford, Gloucestershire.

Copy of a portion of Thomas Tonkin's History of Cornwall. Br. Museum Addit. MSS. 29, 763, fol. 1–50.

NOTE.—Contains the parishes from Padstow to Zennar. The same MS. has "Extracts from Tonkin &c." fol. 52-82. Correspondence between Geo. Browne of Bodmin and Rev. J. Whitaker; Lieut. Col. Nathaniel Thorn of Exeter and Dr. Taunton, of Truro; Geo. Collins-Browne and Dr. Taunton; Davies Gilbert and Dr. Taunton; Geo. D. John and Dr. Taunton respecting Hals and Tonkin MSS. fol. 83-107. The above MS. was purchased from Sir J. Maclean 10 Apl. 1875.

Vegetius De re militari. MS. Bodl. Lib. Digby 232.

NOTE.—This translation was composed at lord Berkeley's request and finished in 1408. It is sometimes said to have been done by Trevisa, but from the account in H. O. Coxe's Catalogus codicum MSS. qui in collegiis aulisque Oxon. adservantur (1852) ii, 19 of another copy at Magd. Coll. Oxford, the translation would seem to have been executed by Clifton.

Ægidius Romanus De regimine principum. ib. Digby 232.

NOTE.—This translation is supposed to have been executed by Trevisa.

The ancient cathedral of Cornwall historically surveyed. By John Whitaker, B.D. [2 plates]. Lond. John Stockdale, Piccadilly 1804, 2 vols. 4°.

Note.—When Douce bequeathed his books and MSS. to the Bodleian Library, the only books excepted from the gift were some large books including the volume of the works of Albert Durer bequeathed to Whitaker by Nollekens and "my commented copies of the blockhead Whitaker's History of Manchester and his Cornwall Cathedral." These were bequeathed to the Br. Museum. His annotated copy of the Cathedral of Cornwall is now marked C, 28 l. On the fly leaf is written "It is my desire that after my decease, this volume, as well as my quarto edition of Whitaker's History of Manchester in two volumes, be presented to the British Museum." The annotations are of the most caustic nature, the title page of vol. ii is altered to "The second part of an antiqvarian hash or salmagvndi under the whimsical appellation of the Ancient cathedral of Cornwall pantagrvelically surveyed by John Whitaker B.D. Hector of Ruan-Lanyhorne." At the conclusion is found this sentence "I should not have taken the trouble of criticising this tiresome and chostic work, if the author had not unwarrantably attacked and totally misconceived [viz. in ii, 365 seq. of the above work] the design of my essay in the Archæologia on the names of the pieces in the game of chess in a manner which at once displays excessive arrogance and most profound ignorance."

WILLIAMS, WILLIAM. (Con.).

NOTE.—On the page facing the title are the following verses:

An Advertisement.
An author of my name, hath lately writ
A sacred book in verse, and some thought it
To be my study; and their reason why,
Because mine poems were, and piety.
But to content the world, I dare it tell
This author's writings mine may much excel:
Moreover, thus I differ from that man,
He's Cornwall born, and I am Cardigan:
And likewise in our age, we disagree,
I am near thirty; he near sixty-three.

NOTE.—The will was proved in the London court on 11 Dec. 1863 by the rt. hon. B. Disraeli the surviving executor, the personalty being sworn under £40,000. Mrs. Willyams after leaving legacies to the amount of £6000 gave the remainder of her property to Mr. Disraeli in these words: "In testimony of my affection and of my approbation and admiration of his efforts to vindicate the race of Israel, with my views he is acquainted, and will no doubt endeavour to accomplish them." She further expressed her wish that he would obtain the queen's permission to use the surname and arms of the family of Lara and Mendez de Costa in addition to or precedent to that of Disraeli. Mr. Disraeli is said to have become acquainted with Mrs. Willyams by answering her enquiry as to whether he was descended from a Spanish family.
